BRIEF INTRODUCTION TO THE THALASSOTHERAPY

What is Thalassotherapy? How is it applied? Who applies it?

It is a medically recognized term within the techniques and therapeutic procedures of hydrotherapy, which combines, under medical supervision and for both preventive and curative purposes, the benefits of the marine environment including seawater, mud, seaweeds and sand with other elements taken from the sea, apart from the marine climate. The meaning of Thalassotherapy comes from the Greek: Thalasso=seawater and Therapia=treatment.

Seawater has therapeutic virtues mainly as a result of its composition, and its chemical and physical properties are used to perform individual techniques (baths, jets, showers) and collective ones (pools, vaporarium) which optimize its beneficial effects for the treatment of different ailments through thermal seawater, seaweeds, mud and other elements extracted from the sea. The medical practitioner is essential in order to select the most suitable treatment. Our qualified staff doctors, physiotherapists, assistant nurses, massage therapists, beauty specialists, dieticians and personal trainers are the ones who will help you to carry out the convenient therapies to make your treatment satisfactory, all of them based on making the most of sea water benefits.
